

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Call it— "Helping Bud to Blossom"

When his wife left on a visit, Bud Harper promised to take care of her potted plants. He moved them out to the porch where he'd be sure to see them—and then forgot them.

Week later, Mrs. Harper asked about the plants. In a letter, Bud rushed out, expecting to find them dead. But they were in perfect shape—even the pots had been rearranged.

Naturally, Bud was mystified. Then he found a note on one of the plants: "We'll lose this one unless you put Ammonium Sulphate on it. Pete." (He's the milkman.)

From where I sit, "neighborliness" is a wonderful thing, particularly when it's put into practice every day. This week, for example, why not have some neighbors in for a glass of beer or a cup of coffee? (Serving them their preference in beverages—that's "neighborliness" too.)

Bill Seeks To Encourage Small School Districts To Consolidate

Educators are holding their collective breath in hopes that HB 91 will become law this year. This is a bill which encourages the consolidation of school districts too small or too poorly financed to offer 12 full grades of school. If the encouragement does not produce consolidation, the superintendent of public instruction is empowered, after a waiting period of 2 1/2 years for local action, to take steps to improve the situation.

The bill is favored by most education authorities because of the many advantages of providing better education for less money. It is opposed by people who argue that such a program deprives small districts of "local control." This seems to be the only argument, and those who use it seem to be unconcerned that a school district which sends its youngsters to a high school in some other district has no control there at all.

One advocate of the reorganization bill said that local control is fine so long as the people doing the controlling also raise the money; but when they use tax money collected from the entire state inefficiently, they ought to reconsider their own principles.

Schools are gradually developing an organized policy of administration in Michigan.

The system, recommended for six years, results in a systematic kindergarten through high school curricula in single districts. Presently, 89.8 per cent of all public school pupils attend classes in 12-grade districts.

Through annexation and consolidation, the number of school districts in the state has been reduced by 193 since 1958. There are now 2,360 with a total enrollment of 1,574,999 pupils.

Dr. Lynn C. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, said 545 are classified as 12-grade districts and the remaining 1,815 offer less than the 12 grades or are closed.

Significance of the report compiled by Bartlett's office is that the 1,815 districts have 86.5 per cent of their students residing within their boundaries.

Bartlett says that the 12-grade districts represent 23.1 per cent of all districts, but enroll 89.8 per cent of all students and have 86.5 per cent of their students residing within their boundaries.

The 12-grade districts also contain 90.8 per cent of the state's total property valuation.

Seventy-seven of the 12-grade districts are centered in southeastern Michigan—in Macomb, Oakland and Wayne counties. They have 44 per cent of the state's pupils and 51 per cent of the total property valuation.

Michigan's largest school district, Detroit, contains 24.8 per cent of the state's total property valuation and 18 per cent of the state's public school population.

The report shows graphically that the poorer districts are falling victim to financial shortages, and that the major answers to local education.

A three-year comparison, 1956-57 to 1958-59, reveals that the total public school enrollment has increased 8.5 per cent while 12-grade districts have increased 10.9 per cent.

Meanwhile, the state equalized valuation for all districts has increased by $3,196,002,600, or 16.9 per cent during this period. In 12-grade districts, the increase has been 19.5 per cent.

State Prison Costs May Sky Rocket

(Editor's Note: A national organization has estimated that Michigan must spend $9 million to $14 million more a year by 1970 to cope with its mounting prison costs. What is this problem and what can be done about it? This is the first of a series of four articles suggesting a solution.)

Lansing—Michigan's prisons appear to be operated economically, but the rising tide of prison commitments is threatening to swamp the state's correction system and force the taxpayers to heavy additional expenditures in the next 10 years unless vigorous action is taken now.

That is the summary of an extensive survey of the Michigan corrections system made over the past 18 months by the National Probation and Parole Association and the state affiliate, the Michigan Crime and Delinquency Council.

The Council, composed of citizens interested in improved corrections at savings to the taxpayers, said the survey showed that Michigan is sending more men to prison than comparable states and keeps them in prison longer than many states.

If this continues, the Council said, the state will be forced to build another major prison at a cost of $15 to $20 million, plus at least $1 million additional a year for operating costs.

But, the Council said, this is only part of the huge burden facing the state. It estimated the state loses about $3,400 per inmate per year in operating costs, institutional depreciation costs, the cost of keeping inmates' dependents and a form of public relief and the loss of taxes normally paid by men at work in society.

The survey indicated that if Michigan pursues its present policies its 1959 prison population, of about 10,138 will climb to 10,600 by 1960 and to 12,980 by 1970. Such a prison load would cost the state almost $45 million a year, compared to this year's $30 million.

DR. LEE DE FOREST, VACUUM TUBE INVENTOR, PRAISES HEARING AID

Lee de Forest, who made modern radio and television possible through his invention of the vacuum tube fifty years ago, recently lavished high praise on a revolutionary new hearing device called "The Listener." "It is," Dr. de Forest said, "without question the finest hearing aid I have ever worn. Nothing compares with it for the quality of hearing it gives."

Commenting further, Dr. de Forest continued: "The advantage of ear-level hearing and the elimination of irritating clothing noises make 'The Listener' a real pleasure to wear. In fact, it overcomes all the objections I previously had to wearing a hearing aid."

So great has been the interest in this remarkable new electronic hearing achievement, the makers have prepared an illustrated report outlining in detail how it functions. Those interested may obtain a free copy from Grayling Pharmacy, 208 Michigan, Phone 5051.

homestead in Alaska bring with them a minimum of $5,000 in cash to cover the first year.

Alaska officials made the report to Michigan as the 59ers, a group of eager homesteaders from Detroit, neared the end of their long and hard journey over the rugged Alcan Highway.

They warned that prices are high in Alaska. For instance, a supply of groceries bought in Seattle, Washington for $17.01 costs as much as $29 in Alaska.

The first Detroit group is starting to settle in the Susitna Valley region. A second group is expected to leave Michigan later this spring or early summer.

Tuberculosis hospitals, with some empty beds, will be asked to turn them over, for the cost of $4,000 mentally retarded in Michigan. The legislature passed a law authorizing the use of extra tuberculosis hospital space for the mental health department, which has woefully overcrowded facilities.

Another use for empty tuberculosis bed space is expected to be the care of prisoners who have the disease but cannot be adequately cared for at Southern Michigan Prison, Jackson. The inmates will be carefully screened for security before being transferred to the hospitals.

Timetables are being established for the 1959 legislature which will end the current session probably late in June.

Most other state legislatures in the nation are either planning to leave their capitals soon or have already adjourned.

That Burning Permit

By M. L. Norton,
District Supervisor, Field
Administration, Gladwin

Have you ever wondered why the Conservation Department makes such a "fuss" about a permit to burn that rubbish in your back yard or the field of grass and piles of brush? To us they are one of the most important tools of our fire prevention program.

That little slip of paper you get giving you permission to do burning on your property is a key to our fire detection program. It works like this—a forest fire lookout sights a smoke and with the aid of another lookout gets a "cross-shot" determining the location of the fire. He then checks the permits for that day.

If a permit has been issued for that location he knows it is controlled. If he finds no permit has been issued, the Fire Officer or Conservation Officer will make an immediate run to the fire.

You can see the confusion that would exist if many people failed to get permits. While on a false run another fire in a hazardous area might get a bad start, causing thousands of dollars worth of damage before it was controlled. If this same fire had been worked on while small, control would have been much easier.

There also are times during each year when the opinion of the field administration supervisors is that it is too dry and hazardous to burn. No permits are issued during this time, then every smoke in a woods area means a forest fire starting.

Permits from the Conservation Department are not required within city limits. They are usually regulated by a city ordinance.

Thus the "permit to burn," which is required by law, is an important part of our fire prevention campaign.

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

"Consumers Marketing Information Co-ordinating with County Extension Service"

When the robins return and the jonquils are blooming, we know that Spring is here—even though a sharp wind occasionally reminds us that winter isn't too far gone.

With Spring arriving, we can again think of "cooking" in our own yards or at a favorite picnic spot. What about welcoming the Spring with charcoal-broiled fryers? Spring and chicken just seem to go together.

Of course, we have best chicken all around the calendar because producers no longer produce one or two batches of broiler-fryers a year. New production methods make it possible to market meaty broilers in a short period of time so the whole "chicken" picture has changed.

These young birds are tender, juicy and meaty and weigh from 1 1/4 to 3 1/2 pounds. They can be broiled, fried, oven fried or roasted. Prices have been low enough for all pocketbooks and it is a supply to assure more than "chicken" every Sunday.

Broilers yield cooked meat in the following proportions: A whole bird will give you about 50% breasts yield 63%, thighs 33%, wings 14%, and legs 14%. When buying a whole bird, plan for one-fourth bird per serving from the broiler fryers and use only 1/2 bird from those weighing 3 1/2 to 4 pounds.

The boneless pieces, neck, backs and wings, yield 40% meat and prices on these are lower. They are good choices for soups, casseroles and salads.

Grade History News

Thursday, April 23, our class in Grade History had a fashion show of some of the girls and boys in the class. They fashioned out Point uniforms, Band, Color uniforms, and then some people around town and down river made clothes worn in the 1900's around the 1920's. People in show were, Julie Carlson, who made a black winter dress that was in fashion about 1920; Sherrie Lashen, modeling a black summer dress worn in 1913; Sharon Williams, modeling a white summer dress worn in the early 1900's; and a Harman modeling a Spanish American War uniform. Julie Carlson, modeling a violet dress worn in the 1920's; and a dress modeling a Sunday dress and shawl. She also had a sporty, glasses, a German gray coat and a few other things from her grandmother. After the style show, Chairman Julie Carlson showed jewelry from the early 1900's. Then Sandra Hagman gave a report on the history of Canada. Christopher Kroll gave a report on vampires. Afterward Mr. Christian took over again and asked us if we had visited some historic place. Different people had.

We would like to extend thanks to Julie Carlson, Chairman of the program, and to everyone who took part in it. Also we have had different people take care of the bulletin board this last week. Donna Fenton and Gary DuBois have it. They have colored pictures of Africa. We also have people taking care of the blackboard. Monday Sandra Hagman and Wednesday Carolyn Halstead.

We are proud to see there are 14 people on the honor roll, and fewer people on the non-privileged list. Some of those on the honor roll are Donna Fenton, Julie Carlson, Gary DuBois, Sandra Hagman, Sharon Williams, Sandra Hagman, David Johnson, Tim Neal, Christopher Kroll, Penny Pettijohn, Lois Denewett, Lucila Tubbs and Jan Valled.

State Police Warn On Child Molestation

With the arrival of spring and the increase in child molestation cases that always accompanies the warm weather season, Sgt. Wallace Shawl, commander of the Houghton Lake Post of the Michigan State Police is advising parents to caution their children about the danger of contacts with strangers and offering several suggestions for their protection.

Sex offenses against children reach their peak during the months when schools are dismissed for the summer vacation.

Although the offenses investigated by the State Police decreased two per cent last year, the number involved nevertheless should be a warning to parents, Sgt. Shawl said.

July led with 71 complaints investigated. August was second with 59 and June and September had 57 each.

A sharp increase occurred in April last year with 54 compared to 29, 33 and 32 for the preceding three months. The decline was just as marked in November and December, with only 31 and 24 respectively. A similar pattern has been noted each year according to State Police records.
